Investment Products and Diversification

A consumer (or class of consumer) may intend to hold a product as part of a diversified portfolio (typically with an intended product use of satellite/small allocation or core component). In such circumstances, the product should be assessed against the consumer's attributes for the relevant portion of the portfolio, rather than the consumer's portfolio as a whole. For example, a consumer may seek to construct a conservative portfolio with a satellite/small allocation to growth assets. In this case, it may be likely that a product with a High or Very High risk/return profile is consistent with the consumer's objectives for that allocation notwithstanding that the risk/return profile of the consumer as a whole is Low or Medium. In making this assessment, distributors should consider all features of a product (including its key attributes).

Consumer Attributes	TMD Indicator	Product description including key attributes
Consumer's investment objective
Capital Growth	In target market	The Investment Manager's strategy is to identify and secure property development opportunities that provide investors with a value-add opportunity through acquisition to development completion. The Investment Manager is targeting a return to Investors of an Equity Internal Return Rate of 15% per annum. This is a target return only, and is not a forecast or a guaranteed return. The Fund is also a geared investment, which increases the potential for larger capital losses (and gains). Investors should therefore have a higher risk tolerance than if the Fund were not geared. The Fund does not pay regular income distributions and is therefore not suitable for an investor seeking regular income.
Capital Preservation	Not considered in target market
Capital Guaranteed	Not considered in target market

Income Distribution	Not considered in target market
Consumer's intended product use (% of investable assets)
Whole portfolio (up to 100%)	Not considered in target market	The Fund intends to predominantly invest in vacant land to be developed into residential and mixed-use projects which the Fund will develop with a view to them being sold upon completion of each project. The Fund therefore has a low level of portfolio diversification and is more suitable as a satellite/small allocation product.
Major allocation (up to 75%)	Not considered in target market
Core Component (up to 50%)	Not considered in target market
Minor allocation (up to 25%)	Not considered in target market
Satellite/small allocation (up to 10%)	In target market
Consumer's investment timeframe
Short (≤ 3 years)	Not considered in target market	The Fund is suitable for investors seeking to invest in the Fund for the long term. There is a Minimum Term of 3 years from the date of issue of an Investor's Unit before Investors can request a withdrawal from the Fund. As the Fund is not suitable for Investors who require access to their capital within 3 years, investors seeking a short-term investment of less than 3 years are considered outside the target market. The Investment Manager expects that properties will likely be held for a minimum of 3 years, subject to the divestment strategy. However liquidity is limited for at least the first 5 years from commencement of the Fund meaning the first withdrawal offer is expected in April 2026.
Medium (>3 years and ≤ 5 years)	In target market
Long (> 5 years)	In target market
Consumer's Risk (ability to bear loss) and Return profile
Very high	In target market	The Fund has a Very High-risk band. The Fund will invest in property development opportunities. While the potential returns from property development have the potential for higher returns than investment in built form property, they also carry a higher level of risk. The key risks of investing in the Fund are highlighted in the Fund PDS. Some specific risks relevant to an investment in the Fund include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none">Risks generally associated with property development which include, delays in securing
High	Potentially in target market
Medium	Not considered in target market

Low	Not considered in target market	relevant approvals, delays in completing construction and construction cost over-runs. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Fund may borrow to fund some costs of construction and borrowing magnifies any potential losses (and gains). • The Fund may not make regular distributions, or at all, as the income available for distribution is dependent upon the ability to sell completed projects in a timely fashion. It is recommended that Investors with a High risk / return profile who are seeking to incorporate the Fund as a part of a diversified investment portfolio seek independent financial advice. Investors with a High risk / return profile may be within the target market if they intend to invest as part of a diversified portfolio with a satellite / small allocation.
Consumer's need to withdraw money
Daily	Not considered in target market	The Fund should be considered an illiquid investment. The Issuer expects to make withdrawal offers on an annual basis from April 2026. There is a minimum term of three years from the date of issue of an investor's units before investors can participate in any withdrawal offers made by the Issuer. Therefore, investors who may require access to their capital prior to April 2026 or within three years of making their investment (whichever is later) are not within the target market. Investors who have satisfied the minimum holding period and who are seeking to withdraw more frequently than annually after April 2026 are also not within the target market.
Weekly	Not considered in target market
Monthly	Not considered in target market
Quarterly	Not considered in target market
Annually prior to April 2026	Not considered in target market
Annually after April 2026 (subject to minimum holding period of three years)	In target market

APPROPRIATENESS

The Issuer has assessed the product and formed the view that the product, including its key attributes, is likely to be consistent with the likely objectives, financial situation and needs of consumers in the target market as described above, as the features of this product in Column 3 of the table above are likely to be suitable for consumers with the attributes identified with a green TMD Indicator in Column 2.

DEFINITIONS

Term	Definition
Consumer's investment objective
Capital Growth	The consumer seeks to invest in a product designed to generate capital return. The consumer prefers exposure to growth assets or otherwise seeks an investment return above the current inflation rate.
Capital Preservation	The consumer seeks to invest in a product to reduce volatility and minimise loss in a market down-turn. The consumer prefers exposure to defensive assets (such as cash or fixed income securities) that are generally lower in risk and less volatile than growth investments.
Capital Guaranteed	The consumer seeks a guarantee or protection against capital loss whilst still seeking the potential for capital growth (typically gained through a derivative arrangement). The consumer would likely understand the complexities, conditions and risks that are associated with such products.
Income Distribution	The consumer seeks to invest in a product designed to distribute regular and/or tax-effective income. The consumer prefers exposure to income-generating assets (typically, high dividend-yielding equities, fixed income securities and money market instruments).
Consumer's intended product use
Whole portfolio (up to 100%)	The consumer may hold the investment as up to 100% of their total investable assets. The consumer is likely to seek a product with high portfolio diversification.
Major allocation (up to 75%)	The consumer may hold the investment as up to 75% of their total investable assets. The consumer is likely to seek a product with medium to high portfolio diversification.

Investable Assets	Those assets that the investor has available for investment, excluding the residential home.
Portfolio diversification (for completing the key product attribute section of consumer's intended product use)
Low	Low Single asset class, single country, low or moderate holdings of securities - e.g. high conviction Aussie equities.
Medium	Medium 1-2 asset classes, single country, broad exposure within asset class, e.g. Aussie equities "All Ords".

High	Highly diversified across either asset classes, countries or investment managers, e.g. Australian multi-manager balanced fund or global multi-asset product (or global equities).
Consumer's Risk (ability to bear loss) and Return profile
Short (≤ 3 years)	Short (≤ 3 years) The consumer has a short investment timeframe and may wish to redeem within three years.
Medium (> 3 years and ≤ 5 years)	Medium (> 5 years) The consumer has a medium investment timeframe and is likely to redeem within five years.
Long (> 5 years)	Long (> 5 years) The consumer has a long investment timeframe and is likely to redeem within a term longer than five years.
Consumer's Risk (ability to bear loss) and Return profile
Issuers should undertake a comprehensive risk assessment for each product. The FSC strongly recommends adoption of the Standard Risk Measure (SRM) to calculate the likely number of negative annual returns over a 20 year period, using the guidance and methodology outlined in the Standard Risk Measure Guidance Paper For Trustees. SRM is not a complete assessment of risk and potential loss. For example, it does not detail important issues such as the potential size of a negative return or that a positive return could still be less than a consumer requires to meet their investment objectives/needs. Issuers may wish to supplement the SRM methodology by also considering other risk factors. For example, some products may use leverage, derivatives or short selling, may have liquidity or withdrawal limitations, or otherwise may have a complex structure or increased investment risks, which should be documented together with the SRM to substantiate the product risk rating. A consumer's desired product return profile would generally take into account the impact of fees, costs and taxes.
Very high	The consumer has a more aggressive or very high risk appetite, seeks to maximise returns and can accept higher potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear 6 or more negative returns over a 20 year period (SRM 7) and possibly other risk factors, such as leverage). Consumer typically prefers growth assets such as shares, property and alternative assets.
High	The consumer is higher risk in nature and can accept higher potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear up to 6 negative returns over a 20 year period (SRM 6)) in order to target a higher target return profile. Consumer typically prefers predominantly growth assets such as shares, property and alternative assets with only a smaller or moderate holding in defensive assets such as cash and fixed income.
Medium	The consumer is moderate or medium risk in nature, seeking to minimise potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear up to 4 negative returns over a 20 year period (SRM 3 to 5)) and comfortable with a moderate target return profile. Consumer typically prefers a balance of growth assets such as shares, property and alternative assets and defensive assets such as cash and fixed income.
Low	The consumer is conservative or low risk in nature, seeks to minimise potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear up to 1 negative return over a 20 year period (SRM 1 to 2)) and is comfortable with a low target return profile. Consumer typically prefers defensive assets such as cash and fixed income.

Issuers should consider in the first instance the redemption request frequency under ordinary circumstances. However, the redemption request frequency is not the only consideration when determining the ability to meet the investor's requirement to access capital. To the extent that the liquidity of the underlying investments or possible liquidity constraints (e.g. ability to stagger or delay redemptions) could impact this, this is to be taken into consideration in completing this section.
Daily/Weekly/Monthly /Quarterly/Annually or longer	The consumer seeks to invest in a product which permits redemption requests at this frequency under ordinary circumstances and the issuer is typically able to meet that request within a reasonable period.
Distributor Reporting
Significant dealings	Section 994F(6) of the Act requires distributors to notify the issuer if they become aware of a significant dealing in the product that is not consistent with the TMD. Neither the Act nor ASIC defines when a dealing is 'significant' and distributors have discretion to apply its ordinary meaning. The issuer will rely on notifications of significant dealings to monitor and review the product, this TMD, and its distribution strategy, and to meet its own obligation to report significant dealings to ASIC. Dealings outside this TMD may be significant because: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • they represent a material proportion of the overall distribution conduct carried out by the distributor in relation to the product, or • they constitute an individual transaction which has resulted in, or will or is likely to result in, significant detriment to the consumer (or class of consumer). In each case, the distributor should have regard to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the nature and risk profile of the product (which may be indicated by the product's risk rating or withdrawal timeframes), • the actual or potential harm to a consumer (which may be indicated by the value of the consumer's investment, their intended product use or their ability to bear loss), and • the nature and extent of the inconsistency of distribution with the TMD (which may be indicated by the number of red or amber ratings attributed to the consumer). Objectively, a distributor may consider a dealing (or group of dealings) outside the TMD to be significant if: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • it constitutes more than half of the distributor's total retail product distribution conduct in relation to the product over the reporting period, • the consumer's intended product use is Solution / Standalone, or • the consumer's intended product use is Core component and the consumer's risk (ability to bear loss) and return profile is Low.
